

GREEN SCREEN QUICKIE PROJECT #2: Angel/Devil Argument

Okay, let's have fun with this one! You will film three separate clips of yourself—you are thinking through something and you will have two "small yous" modeling the "angel/devil" conscience/internal war on your shoulders. Read all requirements on the scoring guide BEFORE you begin (and plan accordingly).

Camera Angles:

- The thinking you should be a medium shot (maybe waist up)
- The angel/devil you should be a wide shot; remove your shoes and film so that your feet are also on the green screen

Lighting:

- Light the screen behind you so that you do not cast shadows
- Do not stand too close to the screen

Cast:

- Be sure you do not wear any green (I'd stay as neutral as possible and avoid blue/green and anything close to the two)
- Be sure to have a distinct personality for each character
- Devil is mean, conniving...tempting
- Angel is being careful, warning, trying to be sweet and concerned
- Don't stare at the camera!

SCRIPT: (ad libbing is encouraged—keep the spirit, but you may change words)

You: Man, I just don't know what to do. I hate tough decisions. Should I go out with my friends or go to the family reunion? Hm.

Devil: (appearing) Come on, family reunions are lame. Go have fun. You're young. Live a little!
(You reacts to the appearance and agrees, nodding)

Angel: (appearing) Now, _____, you know better than that. Your mom really wants you to be there. Be a good son/daughter. It's the right thing to do!
(You reacts to the appearance and seems torn, confused, unsure)

You: Great, you guys are here. Why do you always think you know what's best for me?
(Angel seems flattered, Devil seems angry, folding arms, stomping... stomping hard)

You: Hey, stop that!! It hurts!

Devil: Life hurts sometimes, _____. Do what makes YOU happy. Forget mom. Forget that angel, too!

Angel: Hey, that's not nice!

Devil: (throws a squeezeie or paper wad at the Angel and Angel ducks—NOTE when filming to be sure the squeezeie stays in the shot as much as possible...it should appear to hit you and you should react) Life's not nice!

You: STOP IT, ALL OF YOU! (both startle). (Close eyes) I can make my own decisions... I can make my own decisions... (repeat as the angel/devil fade out). That's better.

THE END
